DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed on 4/16/2007 has been entered.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 12-13 and 15-50 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 12 recites a first movable element being slidable relative to the support in a reciprocating manner such that the first movable element moves horizontally and vertically and a second movable element supported by the first movable element that is adapted to slide relative to the first movable element in a reciprocating manner such that the sliding movement comprises: (1) a phase in which the first movable element moves in an upward direction, raising the second movable element, where the second movable element is immobilized, (2) a phase in which the first movable element is immobilized and the second movable element slides along a direction of conveyed movement, (3) a phase in which the first movable element slides downward and the second movable element slides downward along with the first movable element, and (4) a phase in which the first movable element is held immobile and the second movable element slides along a direction opposite (2).

Claims 42 and 49 recites a first movable element adapted to slide within a channel of support being movable in a reciprocating manner such that the first movable element can move horizontally and vertically and a second movable element adapted to slide within the channel of support such that the second movable element slidably engages the first movable element and can move in a reciprocating manner towards and away from the first movable element.
